

THE beautiful Princess Kawananakoa, who is noted for her interest in all charitable affairs, is planning a charity musicale, for the benefit of the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society. No organization is more deserving, which has been in existence for the past twenty-three years, and while its charities have not been known publicly, aid has been given constantly to the poor and needy have been turned away, whether they were Catholic, Protestant or heathen. The needy have been welcome and given their mite.

In the years gone by Mrs. William C. Irwin has been "the lady god-mother" to the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society, but of course she plans to live away from Honolulu, we realize that in her numerous duties concerning charities, this little aid society may be forgotten. Mrs. Irwin through her magnificent hominy, has helped more than she knows, for without her, the aid society would many times have been without the necessary money to carry on its work. But another lady god-mother appears in the form of the philanthropic Princess Kawananakoa, who is noted for her disposition to help the needy. It will not be the first time that her very beautiful house has been thrown open to the public for a charitable purpose and always with splendid financial results. The Princess will send out cards of invitations to about four hundred people and a most delightful time is being anticipated. The home of Princess Kawananakoa is ideally situated for such a function as she is planning her rooms beautifully arranged and spacious and can easily accommodate the four hundred guests. After the concert the dainty Princess Kapiohale will pass a basket into which the assembled guests will be asked to contribute their mite toward this worthy charity. The list of people asked to contribute to the musical production of this afternoon is not complete, as it has been impossible to get in communication with the different women.

Honolulu is a music-loving city, and any entertainment along musical lines has always been most generously patronized. The women who have been gracious enough to contribute are all too well known to need introduction they have always come forward and assisted whenever asked. The Princess Kawananakoa is a very clever musician and critic and whatever she undertakes is always well done. The Princess is ably assisted by Mrs. Augustina Murphy, who is another ancient charity worker.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stearns' Buffet Supper.
At their beautiful new home at Kalahele, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stearns entertained at a buffet supper, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. E. Bertram Pike. This affair was given Tuesday evening, the decorations throughout this pretty new home, were in pale pink carnations and maiden hair ferns. Supper was served from a long table, that was simply laden with dainty and delectable viands. Prior to the supper, a musical evening was enjoyed. This affair was informal and delightful, about a dozen guests were invited. Among those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Stearns' hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bertram Pike, Judge and Mrs. Heinemann, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emory, Mrs. Lorrin Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rehlford, Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, Mr. Merriam and others. The guests motored home by moonlight.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams' Dinner.
Thursday evening at the Japanese tea house on Vineyard street, Mr. and Mrs. William Adams gave a novel entertainment in the form of a Japanese dinner. All the guests wore kimono and sandals, and sat on the floor and ate with chop sticks. In the fashion that predominates in the "Flowery Kingdom." The guests were served by pretty Japanese maids, clothed in the national costume. All the dishes were strictly Japanese and were so delicious that they were eaten and enjoyed by the "multitude" that were present. This novel affair was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bertram Pike of Massachusetts. It is needless to say that the guests of honor were enthusiastic over this mode of entertainment. Among those present besides Mr. and Mrs. Adams were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bertram Pike, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emory, Mrs. Lorrin Thurston and Mr. Merriam.

During the evening, Gekko, gita danced which added much to the Oriental entertainment.

Engagement Announced.
Owing to the Lenten season, the engagement was quietly announced of Miss Pilgrim to Mr. Gordon Osborne. The young people are being showered with good wishes and congratulations by their legion of friends. Both these young people are very popular. Miss Pilgrim is a tall, willowy brunette, with dark brown hair and eyes. Mr. Osborne is a son of Canon and Mrs. Osborne, his father is pastor of St. Clements Episcopal church. Mr. Gordon Osborne is a sculptor of some note having studied in Europe and New York—he has a studio in Honolulu and his work has been commended and admired by connoisseurs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke's Dinner.
Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke entertained at dinner, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas. This dinner was given at the University Club. Covers were arranged for six and the decorations were in roses. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas and Doctor and Mrs. Judd.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer's Dinner.
Sunday evening, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Cooke, Major and Mrs. Neville and Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marx will be the complimented guests at a dinner, which will be given at the Hotel Courtyard, by Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer.

Mrs. Lorrin Thurston will give a house party on Tantalus complicity. After the concert the dainty Princess Kapiohale will pass a basket into which the assembled guests will be asked to contribute their mite toward this worthy charity. The list of people asked to contribute to the musical production of this afternoon is not complete, as it has been impossible to get in communication with the different women.

Authorities Will Wage War Against Rats and Mice and All Citizens Should Join in the Work of Exterminating These Pests.

Rats do $50,000 damage every year to goods in Honolulu wholesale and retail houses, it is estimated. Their ravages in the hobbling houses were worse in 1910 than ever before, and many of the houses started the year by having several boxes of the large size of Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste, the only reliable exterminator for these pests.

In the United States, England and Germany, the rat annually damages property to the extent of $10,000,000. Dr. James Crichton-Brown, president of a recently formed international union of scientific organizations working together for the extermination of rats, declares that every rat in the United States costs the citizens at least two cents a day for its beard. And there are millions of rats; each is male increasing the rat population some fifty or more a year.

The rat is eternally hungry, and in the average home, barn or store, he inflicts serious property damage in a short time. While with the farmer, entire crops are destroyed, poultry houses made desolate and fruits and vegetables ruined. It is no wonder that Stearns' Electric Paste has such a large and rapidly increasing sale in the sections where both rats and cockroaches breed rapidly. Its sale is truly akin to that of all other rat poisons and exterminators combined, for it can be relied upon to act quickly, driving the rodents out of the house to die.

"Give no quarter" is the stern advice of the scientists who are directing the world-wide war against the rodent. For the destruction of property is really the least of the many calamities against the rat. As a germ-carrier and a disease spreader, he is truly a pest. He is a veritable agent for spreading all manner of disease germs. The rat has been absolutely proven the means by which plague has been spread from India to Hong Kong, and from Hong Kong to the Philippines. The great bubonic plague is spread by the rat. The pestilence was visited from the country. What has happened here done other cities can and should do," says Dr. Blue. "The rapid extermination must be at once begun now if we would protect the nation which we love in darkness and silence at midnight."

It is only by action and persistent efforts to the war on rats that adequate results can be obtained. Our local and State boards of health are making systematic efforts to effect their extermination, and every household should give its prompt aid in lessening the number of this destructive and dangerous animal. The rat-proof construction of buildings and the use of Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste, which can be bought at any drug store, will go far toward assuring public safety. quinties of golden acacia boughs which scented the house with sweet fragrance. Primrose, narcissus, jonquils and daffodils were artistically arranged in baskets and jardinières. The dining-room was in snowdrops, lilies, hyacinths and carnations, making a bewildering mass of color that formed a pretty contrast to the handsome new spring frocks worn.

Mrs. Scott, who is remembered as the stunner Ethel Amweg, received the guests attired in a frock almost identical to the Parisian conceits shown by the beauties in "Madame Sherry." A dashing bit of color was added by the jaunty bouquet of coral pink geraniums worn at the belt. As the young hostess stood embowered against the brilliant yellow color of the acacia boughs she made a stunning picture.

Mrs. Amweg greeted her guests in a gown of amethyst shades, the material being satin and chiffon, with a border of porcelain beads showing the blue and purple shades to harmonize. A tracery of dull gold was woven in the beads, making a rich bit of necessary. Another stunning gown was that worn by Mrs. Walter Scott Franklin, who assisted in receiving. It was of flame-colored charmeuse, veiled with orange red marquisette, the tulle and bodice embroidered heavily with gold, the ensemble being a mass of yellow and orange colors like a brilliant sunset. It was most becoming to the piquant beauty of the wearer.

Also in the receiving party were Mesdames Walter Greer, Tracy Cummings, Frank Marston and Misses Florence Braverman and Edith McCallie.

There were more than three hundred guests, among the number noted being Mesdames Tasker, Biles, James N. Gillett, Gerrit Livingston, James, John Sroufe Merrill, H. T. Moore, John T. Mr. De Wolfe, a wealthy and prominent resident of Vancouver has been spending the past fortnight in Honolulu and will sail on the twenty-eight of this month on the Makura for his home. In June he will sail by the Empress line direct to Japan and from thence to India. This capitalist is quite a globe trotter, have made a tour of the world several times. It is needless to state that he is charmed with Honolulu and is planning to return.

Mrs. Harry Johnson and three children who have been residing at Wai-kihi, at the Cassidy place, have taken up a permanent residence at Kaimuki. Mrs. Johnson is contemplating building a handsome bungalow in the near future.

Judge and Mrs. Will Whitney, Mr. Frederick Kingsbury and Miss Love motored to Haleiwa Saturday and returned to town Monday. Mrs. Kingsbury and Miss Love were most enthusiastic over the beauties that this trip afforded them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vincent Hayes prominent residents of Japan, are passengers on the Chiyu Maru. While this attractive couple were in Honolulu, they were extensively entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hocking.

Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Rabbitt and children are occupying the Harry Whitney place at Kahala and have been entertaining a number of their friends informally.

Mrs. Erdman Baldwin of Honolulu and Miss Maud Aiken of Maui, are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Kinney at Kahuku.
